

2018 2019 Financial Year Diary: April 2018 To April 2019

Finding yourself in charge of finances can feel overwhelming. You might put it off for so long you won't even know where to start. Especially if you've never had to pay the bills or you know your bank account does not look good. There isn't an easier way than to embrace it and open your account and have a good look through. The good thing is once you work out when your expenses are paid, and your money come in, all you need to do is make sure there are no changes. If you have regular income and set most payments as direct debit or even standing order you have a better chance of staying on top of your finances and avoiding nasty surprises. This journal provides you with day to day expenses list with dates payments are taken from your account as well as space to note when your contract is running out. This way, you can plan ahead, get the best deal and maybe even see where you can save some money

In 2011 the World Bank—with funding from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation—launched the Global Findex database, the world's most comprehensive data set on how adults save, borrow, make payments, and manage risk. Drawing on survey data collected in collaboration with Gallup, Inc., the Global Findex database covers more than 140 economies around the world. The initial survey round was followed by a second one in 2014 and by a third in 2017. Compiled using nationally representative surveys of more than 150,000 adults age 15 and above in over 140 economies, The Global Findex Database 2017: Measuring Financial Inclusion and the Fintech Revolution includes updated indicators on access to and use of formal and informal financial services. It has additional data on the use of financial technology (or fintech), including the use of mobile phones and the Internet to conduct financial transactions. The data reveal opportunities to expand access to financial services among people who do not have an account—the unbanked—as well as to promote greater use of digital financial services among those who do have an account. The Global Findex database has become a mainstay of global efforts to promote financial inclusion. In addition to being widely cited by scholars and development practitioners, Global Findex data are used to track progress toward the World Bank goal of Universal Financial Access by 2020 and the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. The database, the full text of the report, and the underlying country-level data for all figures—along with the questionnaire, the survey methodology, and other relevant materials—are available at www.worldbank.org/globalfindex.

Financial aid, scholarships, FAFSA and CSS Profile "black hat" strategies for Forgotten Middle Class families to slash college costs by 49.1%, even if they think there's no way on Earth that they can qualify for anything. The 2018-2019 edition of How To Pay "Wholesale" For College is a treasure trove of tips and strategies that any family can use to cut college costs, so that they can afford to send their child to the "Dream College" they deserve to attend, instead of mortgaging their home and retirement up to the eyeballs and being forced to eat mac 'n cheese every night for the foreseeable future. Inside, readers will discover: >The counter-intuitive reason an expensive private college can cost LESS than a "cheaper" state university >WARNING: Did your accountant or Financial Guy tell you where to save for college? He may have SABOTAGED your eligibility! >How to negotiate with a college after a stingy scholarship or financial aid award, even if you don't possess compromising photos of the dean > 4.5 legal and ethical "loopholes" in the financial aid formulas that can triple your eligibility for aid > More than 17 deadly "landmines" that can decimate your chances of receiving what you otherwise deserve >The inconvenient truth about the 529 College Savings Plan >Special sneaky strategies for business owners that your accountant knows about but never told you >Divorced families - unique strategies and tips More!
