Give life to the beings that roam your imagination! Dragons may terrorize fantasy worlds, but they need peasants to munch on... heroes to confront... elegant elves, shrewd sorcerers and dreaded demons to battle. Following on the wings of the ferociously popular DragonArt, this book shows you how to conjure up your own fantasy realms by drawing inspiration from fairy tales, legends and (if you dare) things that go bump in the night. • Breathe the life into your beings by basing them upon fundamental human anatomy—proportions, facial expressions and gender-specific characteristics. • Color-coded, step-by-step demonstrations (simple enough that even the dullest of dwarves could follow along!) show you how to create a sordid cast of creatures, including goblins, orcs, sprites, angels, mermaids, centaurs, vampires, werewolves, banshees and more. • Accessorize each being by tailoring them with tusks, wings, hooves, daggers, armor and various apparel, from the fine garb of nobles to peasant rags. Copy each being as-is. Or, better yet, follow your own twisted imaginings to conjure up creatures from fantastic lands. This wonderful resource from two authors with an infectious enthusiasm for children's literature will help readers select and share quality books for and with young children. Specifically focused on infants through the third grade, Sharing the Journey contains descriptive book annotations, instructive commentary, and creative teaching activities tailored for those important years. Extensive book lists throughout will help readers build a library of quality children's literature. Books representing other cultures are included to help celebrate diversity as well as cultural connection. Genre chapters include poetry, fantasy, and realistic and historical fiction. A chapter on informational books demonstrates how young children can be introduced to, and learn to enjoy, nonfiction.

Hunter was the magical world it immerses you in right from the beginning. The world of the story is filled with great details that make it real and touching. It really captures the many truths hidden in nature. And a sense of personal discovery that comes with getting to explore those. It's both very magical and other-worldly and very human as it deals with the things we all experience - loss, grief, surprises, curiosity, discovery and growing. Do read it!!!" Rayna Haralambieva "Enchanting tale that is pleasant to read. I loved the fantasy world, the characters, the characters' names. The narrative is very imaginative, still easy to follow, and hard to put down, once you've started reading. Promising beginning of an enjoyable story that I'll try not to miss." Nina Rueva, translator "Reading it for the second time. Which sums up my opinion to be honest. It's an easy to read book, captivating and full with amazing little details that gives you the chance to relocate briefly to the world of this adventurous Sound Hunter. The only thing I can add is: when can we read the sequels ?! PLEASE!" Mondher Khebiri, @mkebiri_ "First I have to be honest when I say that I was directly excited when I started to read this story. I really enjoy nature, fantasy and fiction and this story gathers the three of it. Niko introduces us into a new world through his fictional character, Bogo. He invites us in a world of pristine, colourful and awe-inspiring nature. Nature with a N becomes a magical place; it gets as welcoming as it ge threatening. We are directly in the story, in a world that the author created. Also, I found Bogo a very interesting character that gathers everybody; his family, his masters, animals, nature... I really found interesting to follow this character growing, learning more about himself, about the world. The reader is growing with the character, learning more about Bogo about the world that surrounds him. Also, this story unfolds its philosophical character; the experience that Bogo has with his masters is a kind of experience also for the reader (trying to learn more about yourself, the function of your body, opening your curiosity to nature, to what is happening...). Moreover, as a non-native English speaker, I would say that it is easy to read and this story is for everybody. I've read it easily while learning vocabulary. Anyway, I really appreciated the story and recommend it!" Camille Garoud "Great read. Adventurous and inspirational. Love the chapter with the doors and the ending. Hope this is only the first part, can't wait for more." Peter Burnev
