

A Childs Book Of Poems

A collection of poems and prayers for children celebrates peace and harmony, sharing lessons in peacemaking through courage, forgiveness, friendship, faith, and trust in God. A young girl learns much about her mother as she reads a collection of poems written before she was born that capture her mother's memories of living around the world and growing up as a child of an Air Force serviceperson. Includes author's note, list of Air Force bases, and explanation of the free verse and tanka poetry forms used.

Note: The Proceeds of this book will be forwarded to Children's Charities My Son Carl tragically lost his life in a fatal car accident. As you can expect, I had trouble coming to terms with this. I was in shock for a very long time and was just existing from day to day. Everyday was an uphill struggle, it was like climbing a huge mountain. I was a physical and emotional wreck and my life will never be the same again. Through all the heartache, I decided to write a poem about Carl, then many other poems followed, which then developed into my book. The book is all about my own personal grieving experience, by expressing all my feelings through poetry. It's the emotional journey, that I have gone through, after losing my Son. The painful loss, deep sadness, my love for him and how my life has changed, now he sadly is no longer a part of it There are countless numbers of parents, who have lost a child. Whether they were a baby, small child, teenager or of adult age. The painful loss that you experience is still the same no matter what age your child was. The poems in my book may help, by offering some comfort, by sharing my feelings and emotions with you. As I'm sure that what I have experienced through losing Carl, will undoubtedly be similar to what your experiencing through your sad loss. I truly hope my book will help you in some small way.

A collection of short poems by such writers as Margaret Wise Brown, Langston Hughes, Jane Yolen, and Marchette Chute, all illustrated with rabbits, mice, cats, bears, and other animals.

Caroline Kennedy has chosen a rich variety of Kennedy family favorite poems to include in this priceless collection. With thoughtful personal introductions written by Caroline herself and beautiful new original artwork by award-winning artist, Jon J Muth, this collection is sure to become a family favorite for years to come.

The instant New York Times bestseller featured on NPR's Weekend Edition with Scott Simon! B. J. Novak (bestselling author of The Book With No Pictures) described this groundbreaking poetry collection as "Smart and sweet, wild and wicked, brilliantly funny--it's everything a book for kids should be." Lauded by critics as a worthy heir to such greats as Silverstein, and Lear, Harris's hilarious debut molds wit and wordplay, nonsense and oxymoron, and visual and verbal sleight-of-hand in masterful ways that make you look at the world in a whole wonderfully upside-down way. With enthusiastic endorsements from bestselling luminaries such as Lemony Snicket, Judith Viorst, Andrea Beaty, and many others, this entirely unique collection offers a surprise around every corner. Adding to the fun: Lane Smith, bestselling creator of beloved hits like It's a Book and The Stinky Cheese Man and Other Fairly Stupid Verses has spectacularly illustrated this extraordinary collection with nearly one hundred pieces of appropriately absurd art. It's a mischievous match made in heaven! "Ridiculous, nonsensical, peculiar, outrageous, possibly deranged--and utterly, totally, absolutely delicious. Read it! Immediately!" --Judith Viorst, bestselling author of Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible, No Good, Very Bad Day

If your house were on fire, what one thing would you save? Newbery Medalist Linda Sue Park explores different answers to this provocative question in linked poems that capture the voices of a middle school class. Illustrated with black-and-white art. When a teacher asks her class what one thing they would save in an emergency, some students know the answer away. Others come to their decisions more slowly. And some change their minds when they hear their classmates' responses. A lively dialog ignites as the students discover unexpected facets of one another--and themselves. With her ear for authentic dialog and knowledge of tweens' priorities and emotions, Linda Sue Park brings the varied voices of an inclusive classroom to life through carefully honed, engaging, and instantly accessible verse.

In this enticing poetry collection of autobiographical undertones, author Eric Sowers illustrates the contrast of different aspects of one's life in four sections which symbolize various stages found within oneself. An anthology of dozens of poems, this realistic piece of work ranges from the depiction of the idiosyncrasies of daily life to moral battles fought at war and the watching life go by from within enemy lines. Such intense poems are followed by lighter pieces that gleefully depict moments of relaxation. Finally, a conclusion of provocative verses addresses society's collective future and the path towards which we are headed. The Child That Would Be Missed is powerful, riveting and inspiring. With a remarkably sensitive approach to controversial and trivial topics alike, this anthology speaks to emotions to which all readers are sure to relate.

An illustrated first book of poetry, 'Here's a Little Poem' contains over 60 verses from noted English and American authors, including Wendy Cope, Roger McGough, John Agard and Grace Nichols.

*An award-winning novel in verse about a boy who navigates the start of seventh grade and life growing up on the border the only way that feels right--through poetry. They call him Güero because of his red hair, pale skin, and freckles. Sometimes people only go off of what they see. Like the Mexican boxer Canelo Álvarez, twelve-year-old Güero is puro mexicano. He feels at home on both sides of the river, speaking Spanish or English. Güero is also a reader, gamer, and musician who runs with a squad of misfits called Los Bobbys. Together, they joke around and talk about their expanding world, which now includes girls. (Don't cross Joanna--she's tough as nails.) Güero faces the start of seventh grade with heart and smarts, his family's traditions, and his trusty accordion. And when life gets tough for this Mexican American border kid, he knows what to do: He writes poetry. Honoring multiple poetic traditions, They Call Me Güero is a classic in the making and the recipient of a Pura Belpré Honor, a Tomás Rivera Mexican American Children's Book Award, a Claudia Lewis Award for Excellence in Poetry, and a Walter Dean Myers Honor.*

A NCTE Notable Poetry Book This playful collection of poems--peppered with an astounding variety of animal sounds--is meant to be read aloud together. These poems for two or more voices explore the myriad sounds animals make--from a frog's jug-o-rum to a fish's boom! to an elephant's bark. Laced with humor, the poems are a delight to read aloud and cover all major classes of animals: mammals, birds, fish, reptiles, amphibians, insects, even a crustacean! Readers will learn how to estimate the temperature by counting a cricket's chirps and see how creatures make sounds at specific pitches and frequencies, so that they can be heard despite other noise around them. Extensive end notes provide more information on the animals and how and why they make the sounds they do. Written by noted children's poet Georgia Heard, this is an ideal collection for parents and children to share, or for a fun, interactive classroom read-aloud.

A collection of poems evoking the world and feeling of childhood.

A Child's Imagination Childhood Poems, is a collection of poems that inspire a child's creativity. Whether a child is swinging on a swing imagining they're swinging so high they touch the clouds, envisioning the snowflakes dancing like ballerinas, or walking their dog to a dog show, seeing their dog as the star, this poetry book motivates the child to use their imagination, to learn and explore life. The beautiful illustrations compliment the poems and enhance a child's imagination.
