Psychology for Cambridge International as and a Level

The far right is back with a vengeance. After several decades at the political margins, far-right politics has again taken center stage. Three of the world's largest democracies – Brazil, India, and the United States – now have a radical right leader, while far-right parties continue to increase their profile and support within Europe. In this timely book, leading global expert on political extremism Cas Mudde provides a concise overview of the fourth wave of postwar far-right politics, exploring its history, ideology, organization, causes, and consequences, as well as the responses available to civil society, party, and state actors to challenge its ideas and influence. What defines this current far-right renaissance, Mudde argues, is its mainstreaming and normalization within the contemporary political landscape. Challenging orthodox thinking on the relationship between conventional and far-right politics, Mudde offers a complex and insightful picture of one of the key political challenges of our time.

A revision guide tailored to the AS and A Level Chemistry syllabus (9701) for first examination in 2016.

"This book has been written as a companion to support you throughout your Cambridge International Examinations Psychology AS and A Level (9990 syllabus). The book is divided into two parts: one for the AS Level and one for the A level. The part for the AS Level will guide you through all of the 12 core studies and all of the research methods, issues, debates and evaluations. The part for the A Level will guide you through the two options you have chosen to study (from the four available). There are a range of activities throughout the book to get you thinking psychologically, which are ideal preparation for the examinations."--Page iii.
