development keep each activity fresh. There are also PowerPoints, task sheets and other time-saving resources online. The book covers the whole spectrum of topics that every geography teacher needs to cover. Some ideas involve students managing and monitoring each other; others involve creative thinking and where practical and appropriate, the content is embedded in the real world so that students can immediately see the wider application of their efforts. In the 'teacher's tips' section, the author offers guidance on how to deliver the idea to get the best results based on years of trial and error.

A Long awaited first book from one of the biggest teacher training companies in the UK. Dragonfly Training was founded in 1999 and has established an excellent reputation internationally for providing inspiring, realistic and practical training courses for teachers. In this, their first book, three of their top trainers provide some of the very best hands-on teaching guides providing flexible and creative lessons for classic modern children's books. This book provides 30 starter, main and plenary activities for Boy in the Tower in Year 6, which can be used interchangeably over a half term or over a longer period. The activities address all areas of the English curriculum as well as providing opportunities for cross-curricular work. Activities use three levels where appropriate, showing how the content can be adapted for children who need more support or challenge. Boy in the Tower is a moving story about a boy living in a tower block with his mother, who is suffering the after effects of trauma. It introduces children to the genre of science fiction and raises themes of courage and compassion, science and nature, and parental illness. Reflective practice is at the heart of effective teaching, and this book helps you develop into a reflective teacher of science.

Everything you need is here: guidance on developing your analysis and self-evaluation skills, the knowledge of what you are trying to achieve and why, and examples of how experienced teachers deliver successful lessons. The book shows you how to plan lessons, how to make good use of resources, and how to assess pupils' progress effectively. Each chapter contains points for reflection, which encourage you to break off from your reading and think about the challenging questions that you face as a new teacher. The book comes with access to a companion website, ww routes through the classroom management maze to help practising and aspiring teachers learn to manage behaviour effectively in their classrooms. Using a unique 10-point scale, it encourages teachers to think about the degree to which they are relaxed and in assured control of their classrooms and can enjoy their teaching. Drawing on the views of over 140 teachers and 700 pupils, it provides insights into the factors which enable teachers to manage learning effectively in their classrooms, so that pupils can learn and achieve, and teachers can enjoy their work. Key issues explored include the factors that influence the working atmosphere in the classroom, the impact of that atmosphere on teaching and learning, and tensions around inclusive practice and situations where some pupils may be spoiling the learning of others. This new edition has been fully updated to take account of recent research and inspection findings and includes a

Pinpoint Whole Class Reading is a new series of teaching guides providing flexible and creative lessons for classic modern children's books. This book provides 30 starter, main and plenary activities for Beowulf in Year 5, which can be used interchangeably over a half term or over a longer period. The activities address all areas of the English curriculum as well as providing opportunities for cross-curricular work.

Activities use three levels where appropriate, showing how the content can be adapted for children who need more support or challenge.

Beowulf is an accessible way for teachers and children to engage with the oldest surviving epic in British literature. Its focus on action will appeal to reluctant readers and, as an old English poem set in Denmark, it offers opportunities to explore multiculturalism, myths and legends, history, drama and art.

Have you ever wondered...How can I get what I want?How can I lead a truly empowered life?How can I make a difference in the world we share?This stimulating and enlightening book is a practical guide for understanding and utilizing our creative abilities. Lisa discusses how we are equipped with instruments of creation that are the matrix, the power, and the medium through which we create and shape our reality. The tools, innate within our Beingness, are presented along with three methods to align, magnetize, and manifest what we want in our life.You will learn how to: Change what you are receiving into what you are truly creating; Use thoughts and feelings toward true personal empowerment; Use the laws of physics to align events within your life; Maximize the "creative components" inherent within humanity; Manifest what you want in your life utilizing three methods; Overcome obstacles you encounter in the creative process.

Written by Key Stage 3 English consultants and practising teachers to accompany the three children's books, this teacher's text tackles all the key objectives in depth. It offers teacher's support in implementing the National Framework for Teaching English. A wealth of helpful material, including short-term lesson plans, activities, teaching notes and PCM's is included. There is also support for shared reading and writing sessions, giving teachers inspiration and the flexibility to be more creative in the classroom.
