Are You Looking To Heal Your Body And Mind? Do You Want a Better Life? In this book we will explore the continuity that our physical system forms with other higher energy systems. These subtle energy systems play an important and integrated role in the total functionality of the human being. The physical organism, far from constituting a closed system in itself, is only one of the various systems that are part of a dynamic equilibrium. In particular, we deviate from conventional thinking when we postulate that all these systems are superimposed, coinciding in the same physical space. These higher energy systems, which we have called our subtle bodies, are in fact constituted of matter whose frequency characteristics differ from those of our physical body. As we commented, and assuming that nature becomes like a frozen light, it must plausibly have a characteristic frequency. The difference between physical and ethereal matter is only a matter of frequency. We know, because it is a recognized principle in physics, that the energies of different frequencies can coexist in the same space without producing destructive interactions between them. For a demonstration of that principle, it is enough to think about the salad of electromagnetic frequencies that the human being produces artificially, in the middle of which we live, bombarded day and night by radio and television wave emissions that cross our homes and our bodies. That electromagnetic energy is imperceptible to our eyes and ears because their frequencies are far from the bands captured by our physical organs of perception.
