Understanding how financial markets work is crucial to making sure that global and economic markets are stable. Market participants (traders) vary due to their capital endowment, financial motivation and the type of trading activity. Each activity is also subject to different regulations depending on how sensitive it is and the country that it is based. One of the trading strategies that many traders have come to love is day trading. This is a process whereby you buy and sell stocks on the same trading day. This is different from other types because the trading activity continues even after the marketing hours have closed. Traders that buy and sell using this method of trading are called day traders. The time allows you to run dozens of trades in a single day or run a single trade. You might decide to buy a stock the first day and then sell it the next day, that is if you realize that selling the same day might not prove profitable. The standard practice is for traders to close trades at the end of the day. Trades usually last a few minutes or seconds. These traders do this because they want to avoid any risks that arise out of price gaps between the closing price on the day of buying the stock and the opening price of the next day. Just like any other day, these traders make quick profits and also quick losses in such a short period of time. The good thing is that day trading gives you a chance to make decisions based on analysis of patterns. Day traders study the general market and the price and volume movement of the stocks. They then use fundamental and technical analysis to keep themselves abreast with the latest news items in order to make the right decisions. With the right decisions come better profits and satisfaction from all you do on the market.

Day Trading For Beginners

How to Day Trade

Very few careers can offer you the freedom, flexibility and income that day trading does. As a day trader, you can live and work anywhere in the world. You can decide when to work and when not to work. You only answer to yourself. That is the life of the successful day trader. Many people aspire to it, but very few succeed. Day trading is not gambling or an online poker game. To be successful at day trading you need the right tools and you need to be motivated, to work hard, and to persevere. At the beginning of my trading career, a pharmaceutical company announced some positive results for one of its drugs and its stock jumped from $1 to over $55 in just two days. Two days! I was a beginner at the time. I was the amateur. I purchased 1,000 shares at $4 and sold them at over $10. On my very first beginner trade, I made $6,000 in a matter of minutes. It was pure luck. I honestly had no idea what I was doing. Within a few weeks I had lost that entire $6,000 by making mistakes in other trades. I was lucky. My first stupid trade was my lucky one. Other people are not so lucky. For many, their first mistake is their last trade because in just a few minutes, in one simple trade, they lose all of the money they had worked so hard for. With their account at zero, they walk away from day trading. As a new day trader you should never lose sight of the fact that you are competing with professional traders on Wall Street and other experienced traders around the world who are very serious, highly equipped with advanced education and tools, and most importantly, committed to making money. Day trading is not gambling. It is not a hobby. You must approach day trading very, very seriously. As such, I wake up early, go for a run, take a shower, get dressed, eat breakfast, and fire up my trading station before the markets open in New York. I am awake. I am alert. I am motivated when I sit down and start working on the list of stocks I will watch that day. This morning routine has tremendously helped my mental preparation for coming into the market. Whatever your routine is, starting the morning in a similar fashion will pay invaluable dividends. Rolling out of bed and throwing water on your face 15 minutes before the opening bell just does not give you sufficient time to be prepared for the market's opening. Sitting at your computer in your pajamas or underwear does not put you in the right mindset to attack the market. I know. I've experienced all of these scenarios. In How to Day Trade for a Living, I will show you how you too can take control over your life and have success in day trading on the stock market. I love teaching. It's my passion. In this book, I use simple and easy to understand words to explain the strategies and concepts you need to know to launch yourself into day trading on the stock market. This book is definitely NOT a difficult, technical, hard to understand, complicated and complex guide to the stock market. It's concise. It's practical. It's written for everyone. You can learn how to beat Wall Street at its own game. And, as a purchaser of my book, you will also receive a membership in my community of day traders at www.vancouver-traders.com. You can monitor my screen in real time, watch me trade the strategies explained in his book, and ask questions of me and other traders in our private chat room. I invite you to join me in the world of day trading. I'm a real person who you can connect with. I'm not just a photograph here on the Amazon site. I love what I do. You can follow my blog post under Author Updates on my Author page on Amazon. It's honest. You'll see I lose some days. You can read the reviews of my book. I know you will learn much about day trading and the stock market from studying my book. You can join at no cost and with no obligation my community of day traders at www.vancouver-traders.com. You can ask us questions. Practical, hands-on knowledge. That's How to Day Trade for a Living.

Are you looking for a complete guide on day trading? Then Keep reading... Before you begin day trading, you need first to understand what it is not. It's not investing, which is buying a stake in some asset that you hope will build a profit over a long period. The length of time is subjective, but the most investor will typically hold onto assets for several years, sometimes decades. They are also normally concerned with what business they choose to invest in. They look into companies to make sure they avoid litigation, have strong products, pay off debts, and make solid profits. Day trading is, pretty much, the opposite. It involves buying and selling stock in a single day. These types of traders will borrow money so they can take advantage of little price changes in highly liquid indexes and stocks. Even still, they tend to follow the same type of wisdom that longer-term investors: Buy low and sell high, day traders just do it in a smaller time frame. A typical day trader's day may look something like this. A day trader decides to buy 1,000 shares in stock they like at 10 am. Then when the process begins to rise at 10:15, they sell it. If the stock was up by half when they sell, then they have made $500, minus the commission. Let's say the trader is using Scottrade; the commission could range from $7 to $27, which would mean they would make a net profit of $493 to $473. Then the trader would have to take into consideration their taxes. Whenever you sell an investment that you have owned for less than a year, it is taxed based on your personal gain rate, and this can sometimes be as high as 35%. Long-term gains aren't taxed any higher than 20%. That makes tax planning extremely important in the day trading world. This book covers the following topics: Why learning day trading today is an opportunity? What is day trading and how to get started? Interest rates Retail vs institutional traders Advantage and negatives of day trading Types of trading Platforms and broker What is an option contracts Call and put option on the stock market Volatile in the markets Day trading and swing trading Candlestick Day trading strategies And Much More If you think the profit looks small, keep in mind a day trader doesn't just make a couple of trades in a day, they will make 25 to 30. That means they multiply their profits by having a high trade volume. To help them minimize risks, they won't normally keep a stock overnight because it can change a lot during that period. Corporate announcements and news events will drive the volatility of the market, so the trader needs to be available and able to respond at the drop of a hat. Unlike a long-term investor who waits until they think things through and receives more information, day traders move quickly and make decisions in just a couple of minutes or seconds. Are you interested in learning day trading strategies? If yes, then this is the right book for you! In day trading, traders keep their titles for one day only. Day trading focuses on buying and selling stock during the same day; that's why its techniques and tips are different from the other types of trading. A successful day trader is the one who can take advantage of little movements in the prices of stock by playing around them in the right way. This game may appear to be dangerous for the newbie traders who generally don't like to adhere to a well-formulated strategy. However, anyone who wishes to make money with day trading should have a better strategy on how to predict the trend in prices of the stock to maximize profits. When day trading is done right, it allows you to use your time the way you want rather than being chained to a desk all day or any other 9 to 5 job. If you want to travel the world and explore new cultures, then this career should be a serious consideration. If you want the freedom to dictate what you do with your time, then this career should be an option for you. If you want an income that far surpasses anything you can earn in the regular grind, then this career is for you. You have to make this work for you, and that ability is what separates amateur options day traders and the professionals. Nothing is preventing you from capturing that success for yourself except you. This book covers: Challenges and Rewards Why Do Most Day Traders Lose?
