This is not an autobiography in any typical sense.

While people are interested in Obama's life or Gandhi's life, there is no such interest in my life.

Rightfully. This is not that kind of book. I believe that getting old is the first time we can genuinely figure out the relationship we have with ourselves. What our likes and dislikes are when they are uncoupled from social standards. So this is a kind of mental autobiography. It's a book of essays about everyday life, from the perspective of being much closer to the end than the beginning. The essays are different

His career catapulted him to the heights of TV journalism, breaking some of the most important stories in TV news. But behind the scenes was a war room of clashing producers, anchors, and the most formidable 60 Minutes figure: legendary correspondent Mike Wallace. Based on decades of access and experience, Ira Rosen takes readers behind closed doors to offer an incisive look at the show that invented TV investigative journalism. With

As one of Mike Wallace's top producers, Rosen reveals the interview secrets that made Wallace's work legendary, and the flaring temper that made him infamous. Later, as senior producer of ABC News Primetime Live and 20/20, Rosen exposes the competitive environment among famous colleagues like Diane Sawyer and Barbara Walters, and the power plays between correspondents Chris Wallace, Anderson Cooper, and Chris Cuomo. 'I turn 60 soon and while I've achieved a lot in business and motorsport, I'd like to think there's a lot more to come.' Having grown up in a wooden caravan in Scotland, it's been a heck of a journey for a self-made millionaire and petrolhead who also owns Hampton Downs, Darrell Lea Confectionery and a mega-mansion on the Gold Coast. My name is not important at this time but I am the author of this series of vignettes about the thoughts of veterans who are patients in VA hospitals some are recovering from injuries incurred in current conflicts or wars of the past They lie in their beds with nothing to do, day in and day out, but think about yesterday and the things that happened. Happenings they want to forget and there are the things that they long to remember. The homes that they once had, their loved ones,

I have grown so much, and particularly these last couple of years, that I know that what some people believe about me has nothing to do with my true value. It goes back to the man from San Diego who instantly judged me and my character based simply upon where I began. He knew absolutely nothing about me but that I was born in Bakersfield in the late 40s and that my family came there from Oklahoma to find work. To him the case was closed. Were he to know Maggie and that I make her happy, he would have to suspect that there may be some substance to me. Im
