Rediscovering Geography presents a broad overview of geography's renewed importance in a changing world. Through discussions and highlighted case studies, this book illustrates geography's impact on international trade, environmental change, population growth, information infrastructure, the condition of cities, the spread of AIDS, and much more. The committee examines some of the more significant tools for data collection, storage, analysis, and display, with examples of major contributions made by geographers. People who travel are of three kinds. There are the casual travelers - those who only think about travel as something to occupy the holidays; these people do not necessarily live for travel. There are the keen travelers, who have a few places on their bucket list that they look at again and again. And finally, there are those with the spirit of a nomad inside them, forever driving them onward and upward. Geography is Forever If you follow every travel page on social media, and if you spend all your free time looking up videos of places that you have always wanted to visit on a vacation trip, you are not alone. In this book, you will be able to test your travel quotient and your geography knowledge through a series of intricately crafted trivia challenges. A casual traveler will be able to get a fairly high score, but perfection is the exclusive domain of those who eat maps for breakfast, and spin globes around in their minds all day. Cities are our homes The human race builds vast cities; this is a big part of what sets us apart from all other species. And each city is like a new person, with an endlessly fascinating personality. We know about the world's great cities, about London. New York, Paris, Rome, and Hong Kong. But do we also know as much about Osaka, about Sao Paulo, about Montreal, and about Vladivostok? This book will test your travel and geography quotient, and give your brain a thorough mental workout. In this book, you will test your knowledge of the biggest travel destinations and hotspots in the world, and see how much you really know about them. All of us have a country, a city, a town, a destination, or a vacation spot that we love. And, as we travel, we learn more about the cities and countries of the world. But how much do you really know and remember? This book pits you against the best geography and travel trivia brains in the business to help you gauge where you stand on your Travel Quotient Knowledge Score. If you are a seasoned citizen of the world, you can expect a score of above 70%. If you are able to score 100% on all the questions, is your diet a combination of atlases and globes? Geography is fun. All of us know something about a few cities - this book will test that knowledge. The format is fairly simple: you will be given a series of cities in each set of questions. All you have to do is guess which country each city is in - you will, of course, be given options. We'll start you off easy, and slowly ramp up the difficulty. As you travel virtually through the most desirable destinations in the world, we hope that you can discover more about places you never knew existed, and that wanderlust awakens in your heart.

City, building, landmark and capital city names and location. Deserts, forests, jungles, glaciers! Country size, flag, language currency, religion, climate and population. Flag, flag colors, other flag attributes. Physical Geography jargon and facts. World record facts regarding geography. Challenging multiple choice questions: We have seen several quiz books that have a poor selection of multiple choice questions, such as example below... What is the highest mountain in Turkey? A Mt.

B Mt. Everest C Mt. Ararat D Mt. Cook Whilst this question is somewhat tricky in itself, the answers given allow most geographers to eliminate the 3 wrong answers quickly to come up with answer C. Instead of this approach, we have a quiz more like shown below to make this strategy of quizzing harder for the challenger... What is the highest mountain in Turkey? A Mt. Elbrus B Mt. Davamond C Mt. Ararat D Mt. Bazarduzu Although it may be easy for some seasoned geographers, this question, by the choices given is harder for the most part, and will hopefully trigger more conversation/thought before answering.
