"HELP! My Students Can't Write!" Why You Need a Writing Revolution in Your Classroom and How to Lead It. The Writing Revolution (TWR) provides a clear method of instruction that you can use no matter what subject or grade level you teach. The model, also known as The Hochman Method, has demonstrated, over and over, that it can turn weak writers into strong communicators by focusing on specific techniques that match their needs and by providing them with targeted feedback. Insurmountable as the challenges faced by many students may seem, TWR can make a dramatic difference. And the method does more than improve writing skills. It also helps: Boost reading comprehension Improve organizational and study skills Enhance speaking abilities Develop analytical capabilities TWR is as much a method of teaching content as it is a method of teaching writing. There's no separate writing block and no separate writing curriculum. Instead, teachers of all subjects adapt the TWR strategies and activities to their current curriculum and weave them into their content instruction. But perhaps what's most revolutionary about the TWR method is that it takes the mystery out of learning to write well. It breaks the writing process down into manageable chunks and then has students practice the chunks they need, repeatedly, while also learning content.

" Writing Preparation and Practice3 " is a writing skills textbook designed for intermediate and high-intermediate students who are ready to advance beyond paragraph-level pieces. It is intended to build on the fundamentals of paragraph writing that students learned in "Writing Preparation and Practice 1" and "2 "and to give them the confidence they need to write longer pieces. "Writing Preparation and Practice 3 " is based on the premise that because different languages organize information differently, students need to be shown how to organize information in English if they are to write effectively in English. Students also need to understand that good writing is a network of complex skills that can be taught, practiced, and mastered. Features Presentation of the steps of the writing process:

"prewriting," "writing," and "revising and editing" Guided practice in each stage of the paragraph writing process, including practice on writing "thesis statements" "Model paragraphs" and "essays/peer-editing worksheets/Web-based exercises" Editing practice in error correction and proofreading Additional individual practice in the skills that students have learned The "Writing Preparation and Practice" series also includes " Writing Preparation and Practice1 "and " Writing Preparation and Practice2. Parents serve as their childrens first teachers. What they learn at home helps them build on their learning and education at school. In A Parents Guide to a Peaceful Home, author Patricia Braxton provides a guide to helping parents manage their home in a peaceful, loving way in order to ensure success for their children at home and at school. This handbook presents Braxtons TAD (Toward Affective Development) model, which gives practical advice to help parents teach their children responsibility, respect, discipline, and other positive character traits. It also teaches parents how to relate to each other properly and how to affect change from within. Through TAD, Braxton works to change the face of families in a positive way. The steps detailed in A Parents Guide to a Peaceful Home can facilitate an atmosphere where love, compassion, respect, and other virtues are taught by example and reinforced to produce a lasting, peaceful home. This packet will give your students practice writing stories with activities that are designed to allow each writer to draw upon his or her unique background of experiences.
