This volume brings together seven empirical studies about aptitude-treatment interactions (ATI) about how (second language) learners with different aptitudes match or don't match with different educational treatments; and aptitude-testing interactions, i.e., about how learners with different aptitudes perform better or worse depending on the way their knowledge and skills are tested. The authors are all established researchers or rising stars in the field of second language acquisition and all believe that little can be said about the effectiveness of teaching and testing methods or materials without taking individual differences into account. Many of the studies corroborate a central finding in SLA which has become a central finding in the psychological and educational research about ATI: the more a task puts the burden of information processing on the student, the bigger the role of the corresponding aptitudes. The kinds of findings documented in this volume contribute to a scientific basis for language teaching that will become increasingly useful as emerging technologies make adaptations for individuals and groups more feasible. Originally published as special issue of Journal of Second Language Studies 2:2 (2019).

Interactions 2 Grammar Student Book

The three books in the Interactions Integrated Skills Program provide an in-depth coverage of the four major language skills: reading, writing, listening, and speaking. In addition, a strong grammar component acts as a foundation for students to rely on while mastering their new skills. The content and themes found in the new Integrated Skills Editions are based on materials from the highly successful Interactions series. Like its parent series, the Integrated Skills Program places a great emphasis on the development of skills and strategies in all language areas. All of the reading selections found in the Interactions Integrated Skills Editions, are fresh and new, with a wide variety of formats and themes. Each selection is accompanied by a host of reading strategies and skill-building practice activities including guessing meaning from context, reading for main ideas and details, skimming, scanning, and so on. The writing component features a step-by-step approach to process writing and rewriting in a variety of different genres. Grammar is always presented in the context of the chapter theme, and each grammar topic is accompanied by a number of communicative practice activities. Finally, the listening/speaking section features detailed practice with specific listening strategies and includes a variety of engaging speaking activities based on the chapter theme. The Interactions Integrated Skills Program also features an exciting video component, with practice activities featured in the opening sections of each chapter.
