WIRE WRAP JEWELRYThe Ultimate step by step Guide to making wire wrapped rings, pendants, earrings, bracelets; learn amazing techniques to become a wire wrap jewelry expertWire wrapping can simply be defined as taking wire and wrapping it around itself and/or beads and other components to create jewelry. Wire wrapping can be used to make a loop for joining different components together, such as when creating a wrapped wire loop or wrapping a pendant.

Through wire wrapping, you can also secure beads to a form, or even attach non bead items such as wire wrapping rhinestone cup chain onto a bangle. When wrapped, curved, bent and manipulated, the wire itself can become the structure and foundation of your piece or act as a design detail. Wire wrapping lets you create custom shapes and angles, and gives you more ways to use different components together. To build up your wire wrapping skills, start simple with the very basics such as creating simple and wrapped wire loops. Move on to wrapping a briolette and creating a herringbone wrap. The more you practice, the better your results will be as you get familiar with how wire acts and moves. After you have mastered some of the more simple techniques, try wire wrapping beads onto a form, creating an over-under basket weave design and wire netting. From here you can progress onto advanced techniques such as those demonstrated by guest designer Wyatt White. This is a guide of how to make your own pendants, fairly easily. It may take some practice, but it's really fun if you get good at it and it only takes a few minutes. complex, beginners probably will not succeed. Although, on the other hand, who knows where this boundary of the transition from beginner to master? Maybe it's time to take up a serious business and do something worthwhile? What do we need for work? Wire. I use copper wire in my tutorial. And this does not necessarily mean that you should use copper wire. Use any wire. I made similar ornaments from copper wire, wire from nickel silver, brass, bronze and sterling silver. In addition, you can combine, use two, three types of wires in one decoration. The recommendation will be one. Use appropriate wire thickness. In the book, I make pendants of wire 1 mm (18 ga) and 0.4 mm (26 ga) thick. You can use wire with a thickness of 0.8 mm (20 ga) and 0.3 mm (28 ga) Cabochons and beads made of natural stones. Smaller or larger cabochons are allowed. It is best to use stones of volcanic origin. Instruments. You will need a minimum set of hand tools for the job. I will not go long in details about the tools. If you have already tried your hand at working with wire, you should understand what you need. For applying the patina on the wire, you can use special solutions. Valeriy Vorobev

In simple terms, wire wrapping is taking wire and wrapping it around itself and/or beads and other components to create jewelry. Wire wrapping can be used to make a loop for joining different components together, such as when creating a wrapped wire loop or wrapping a pendant. Through wire wrapping, you can also secure beads to a form, or even attach non bead items such as wire wrapping rhinestone cup chain onto a bangle. When wrapped, curved, bent and manipulated, the wire itself can become the structure and foundation of your piece or act as a design detail. Wire wrapping lets you create custom shapes and angles, and gives you more ways to use different components together. These techniques can incorporate anything from gemstone beads, gemstones cabochons to charms and just pure wire work. In this book, I will be giving out everything you need to make great

Wire wrapping can be said to be one of the oldest if not the oldest technique for creating handmade jewelry. Wire wrapping can simply be defined as taking wire and folding it over itself or beads as well as different mechanisms to produce gems or jewelries. It is carried out using jewelry wires and findings. These findings are very similar to wire. For instance head-pins and are used to create different components. These wire components are then connected together by making use of mechanical means without heating or soldering the wire. This method often involves taking a wire and then bending it to form a loop or several other decorative shapes and that you thereafter wrap the wire around itself to complete the making of the wire component. This is what makes the decorative shape or loop you created to last long.In this book, I have put together everything you need to learn how to make wire wrap jewelry. Everything You Need To Make Amazing Wire Wrap Jewelry Projects: Is Wire Wrapping Difficult
The Basics and Beyond

Essentially, wire wrapped jewellery is jewellery that has been created either by wrapping wire around itself or around elements (cabochons, gemstones, crystals or beads). It's crafted using metal wire, which is bent, twisted and manipulated into shape, rather than being soldered or moulded. The wire can be wrapped around objects to secure them in place, but it can also be a decorative design element in itself. There are many different wire wrapping and weaving techniques, such as the square-weave, of-eight weave and filigree or herringbone wrapping. Because the tools needed for wire-wrapping are relatively few and inexpensive, wire wrapping is a great technique if you're just starting your jewellery-making journey.
