Excerpt from Office Procedure Manual: January, 1956

This Manual is divided into Sections, each of which deals with specific subjects. Office and record keeping procedure is prescribed. It is designed to assist inspectors and field offices in facilitating office procedure, to promote efficiency and to coordinate office practices, record keeping and the distribution of certain reports by all offices. District Supervisors, officers - in charge, inspectors and clerks should familiarize themselves with details of all sections applicable to their respective responsibilities. Manual of Patent Examining Procedure

While handing over the first set of 12-digit unique identification numbers to ten tribal families of Tembhli, a dusty village tucked away in a far corner of Maharashtra, the then Prime Minister Manmohan Singh said, 'UID will help hundreds of people in India, whose pride was hurt for so many years because of the lack of an identity. This will be their source of recognition from now on'. The Aadhaar scheme, since its inception, has been operating without parliamentary approval and, thus, the Supreme Court of India held that Aadhaar cannot be made mandatory for availing public services in India. This book, therefore, is an attempt to understand how Aadhaar will make India's poor free. Fifteen chapters describe the evolution of different schemes of the Indian government that have sought to provide identification, enrolment to and functioning of Aadhaar, and the legal framework involved in the process. This book is an in-depth analysis of this unique and controversial programme in India. Das maintains that while the Aadhaar programme's contribution in the implementation of PDS, MGNREGS, education, and public health can only be modest, it will be in a position to create a platform for greater financial inclusion of the poor.

assistant examiner shall properly perform his duties it is necessary that he should form a just conception of his position and responsibilities with reference both to the public and to the inventor, and acquire a full appreciation of the work in which he is engaged. A patent is sometimes regarded as a contract between the public and the inventor, the consideration on the part of the inventor being such a complete disclosure of the invention as will enable any one skilled in the art to which the invention appertains to make, construct, compound, and use the same. The consideration on the part of the public is the protection of the inventor in the manufacture, use, and sale of his invention for a definite time (17 years) by prohibiting the manufacture, use, and sale by others without the inventor's consent. One function of the patent is to clearly and distinctly point out the exact limits of the invention for which the patentee is given protection.
