Of all of the books in the entire world, there is only one that is free of errors and defects, and that Book is none other than the Noble Quran. The word 'magnificent' is a loose translation of the word that is used in the title of the original Arabic version of this book: 'Adhama. 'Adhama conveys many similar meanings, such as magnificence, grandeur, greatness, exaltedness, and splendor. In the times we live in, great masses of people are ignorant of the greatness and magnificence of the Noble Quran; hence the dire need of books that deal specifically with the subject-matter of this work. The objective of this book is to reveal to readers certain aspects of Quran's greatness and magnificence. This book shows readers that Allah (SWT) bestowed a great favor upon the Prophet (PBUH) and the people of his nation by giving them the best and most magnificent of all divinely revealed books. The author warns Muslims not to become heedless of the Noble Quran. For it is every Muslim's duty not just to recite the Quran, but also to understand it, to reflect upon its meanings, and to implement its rulings and teachings. This book also corrects some of the more dangerous misconceptions that people have regarding the Noble Quran.

My Japanese translation of the 5 Paras of the holy Quran is published in 2 separate volumes. Detailed explanations or Tafseer of all Surahs of Last Para 30 is provided in the 1st volume. This is a first attempt in Japanese language to present Tafseer of any part of the holy Quran. The 2nd volume is simply translation without detailed explanations. All basic concepts of Tauheed, Risalat and Akherat have been explained in detail in these explanations in the light of Quranic verses and the basic morality standards required by a Muslim have also been explained in detail, as urged in various verses. In the beginning, in order to show the importance of trying to understand holy Quran, the influencing power of the Quranic eloquence has also been elaborated with the detailed story of Meccan non-believers prostrating in Sajda while our Prophet was reciting Surah An-Najm. As the news of this Sajda spread, rumors spread all over Arabia that non-believers of Mecca have adopted Islam. As a result, some persecuted migrant Muslims came back to Mecca from Habsha due to such rumors. However, this story shows the power of Quranic verses and the strong effect they create even on non-believers. TRUE STORY OF A NON-MUSLIM JAPANESE GIRL WHOSE CANCER WAS CURED AND THUS HER LIFE WAS SAVED WITH THE POWER OF QURANIC RECITATION Showing the power, influence and the effects of the holy Quran study, I have also written in the beginning in Japanese a true story of a non-Muslim Japanese girl whose life was saved by the power of Quran recitation even without understanding the meaning of the Quranic verses. She used to attend free lessons to learn Arabic language at the Saudi Arabian Institute in Roppongi area of Tokyo downtown. She was told by her doctors that her cancer has grown so much that she will die as a result of it within a month and that doctors have no cure for such a wide-spread cancer in her body. As there was no cure and the doctors had told her just to wait for her death within a month, she got some audio CDs of the holy Quran from the Saudi Institute and started listening to them daily from morning till the time to go to bed for sleep. After a month she again went to the same doctors and got herself examined for cancer. Doctors were also surprised to find that all cancer symptoms had been cleared and wiped out of her body. Thus her life was saved just by listening to the holy Quran with the faith that Allah has the power to cure her. [Completed on Friday, September 25, 2015] This Japanese translation and Tafseer is based on his internationally renowned, most authentic 6-Volume Tafheem-ul-Quran. It has been translated in various languages and is widely used in Pakistan, Turkey, Arabian Countries, Russia and others. He had personally authorized and instructed me to translate it into Japanese and had offered copyright for its Japanese version, while I visited his office in Lahore, Pakistan. If my age permits, I have to translate remaining 25 Paras and write detailed Tafseer of remaining 29 Paras, as I have already completed Tafseer of last Para 30.

The first monograph on the history of Islamic hospitals, this volume focuses on the under-examined Egyptian and Levantine institutions of the twelfth to fourteenth centuries. By the twelfth century, hospitals serving the sick and the poor could be found in nearly every Islamic city. Ahmed Ragab traces the varying origins and development of these institutions, locating them in their urban environments and linking them to charity networks and patrons' political projects. Following the paths of patients inside hospital wards, he investigates who they were and what kinds of experiences they had. The Medieval Islamic Hospital explores the medical networks surrounding early hospitals and sheds light on the particular brand of practice-oriented medicine they helped to develop. Providing a detailed picture of the effect of religion on medieval medicine, it will be essential reading for those interested in history of medicine, history of Islamic sciences, or history of the Mediterranean.

This volume rejects the notion that Islam's sacred text is error free and cannot be critically evaluated. The study of the Koran must develop and mature. Scholars of Islam are of course familiar with the book's many errors and contradictions, but these inherent flaws have rarely been revealed to a wider public. The Origins of the Koran is an attempt to remedy this deficiency by bringing together classic critical essays which raise key issues surrounding Islam's holy book. Divided into four parts, this important anthology begins with Theodor Nöldeke's first truly scientific study of the Koran. Part Two focuses on the difficulty of establishing a reliable Koranic text, while Part Three examines the Jewish, Christian, and Zoroastrian sources of Muhammad's revelation. Part Four is a consideration of the controversial interpretations of contemporary scholar John Wansbrough, who questions the historical reliability of the earliest Islamic sources. This superb collection, which includes additional selections from Leone Caetani, Arthur Jeffery, David Margoliouth, Andrew Rippin, C.C. Torrey, and more, will prove indispensable to scholars and all those interested in the textual underpinning of one of the fastest growing religions in the world. Ibn Warraq is the highly acclaimed author of Why I Am Not a Muslim and Defending the West. He is also the editor of The Origins of the Koran, What the Koran Really Says, Leaving Islam, The Quest for the Historical Muhammad, and Which Koran'.

The Meaning of Surah 01 Al-Fatihah (The Opening) Открытие From Holy Quran (Священный Коран) Bilingual Edition English Russian Standard Version. Surah al-Fatihah is the first chapter (surah) of The Holy Quran. Its seven verses (ayat) are a prayer for the guidance, lordship and mercy of Allah SWT (God). This chapter has an essential role in Islamic prayer (salāt). The primary literal meaning of the expression "al-Fatihah" is "The Opener," which could refer to this Surah being "the opener of the Book" (Fatihat al-kitab), to its being the first Surah recited in full in every prayer cycle (rak'ah), or to the manner in which it serves as an opening for many functions in everyday Islamic life. Some Muslims interpret it as a reference to an implied ability of the Surah to open a person to faith in God. The name al-Fatihah ("the Opener") is due to the subject-matter of the surah. Fatihah is that which opens a subject or a book or any other thing. In other words, a sort of preface. The word حَتَّافِلَا came from the root word حَتَّف which means to open, explain, disclose, keys of treasure etc. That means sura Al-Fatiha is the summary of the whole Quran. That is why we recite another Ayat or sura along with Fatiha in our prayers. That is, sura Al-Fatiha is paired with rest of the whole Quran. It is also called Umm Al-Kitab ("the Mother of the Book") and Umm Al-Quran ("the Mother of the Quran"); Sab'a al Mathani ("Seven repeated [verses]", an appellation taken from verse 15:87 of the Quran); Al-Hamd ("praise"), because a hadith narrates Muhammad as having said that God says: "The prayer [al-Fatiḥah] is divided into two halves between Me and My servants. When the servant says, 'All praise is due to God', the Lord of existence, God says, 'My servant has praised Me'."; Al-Shifa' ("the Cure"), because a hadith narrates Muhammad as having said: "The Opening of the Book is a cure for every poison.", Al-Ruqyah ("remedy" or "spiritual cure").

Islamic Perspective

The Quran is the central religious text of Islam, believed by Muslims to be a revelation from Allah. Muslims regard the Quran as Muhammad's most important miracle; a proof of his prophethood; and the culmination of a series of divine messages. The Quran describes itself as a book of guidance for mankind. It offers detailed accounts of specific historical events, and it often emphasizes the moral significance of an event over its narrative sequence. The Quran consists of 114 chapters of varying lengths, each known as a ṣrah. Chapters are classified as Meccan or Medinan, depending on whether the verses were revealed before or after the migration of Muhammad to the city of Medina. Each ṣrah consists of several verses, known as ḥ̣yāt, which originally means a "sign" or "evidence" sent by God. The Quranic content is concerned with basic Islamic beliefs including the existence of God and the resurrection. Narratives of the early prophets, ethical and legal subjects, historical events of Muhammad's time, charity and prayer also appear in the Quran. The Quranic verses contain general exhortations regarding right and wrong and historical events are related to outline general moral lessons. In this edition of Quran the ṣrahs are ordered chronologically.

Drawing upon her anthropological fieldwork in various poor neighbourhoods in Cairo, the author shows the resilience of poor women in the face of poverty. Beliefs about demons that invade the body and thereby cause illness derive from 'formal' as well as 'popular' Islam. Affected women find relief in the Zar ceremony or in a session of Koran healing.

INTRODUCTION It is natural in this life that people will suffer worries and stress, because this world is a place of disease, hardship and suffering. It is also natural in this life that people have to put up with suffering and hardship for various reasons, as is indicated in the Qur'an: Man has been created weak. An-Nisa 28 The Prophet [PBUH] said: "Whatever the disease, Allah Ta'ala has created a medication for it, regardless of the fact that some men may come to know what this medication is and others may not." It is also natural that people have their own problems, worries and diseases in this life, but what should count is how one deals with all of them. The believer will seek solutions to such worries in the Holy Qur'an and Sunnah where there is the true remedy. This book contains prescriptions for problems, worries, disease and much more; the sources being the Holy Qur'an and Sunnah, as well as the experiences of the pious, as long as they are in accordance to the Qur'an and Sunnah.

This book discusses the common principles of morality and ethics derived from divinely endowed intuitive reason through the creation of al-fitr' a (nature) and human intellect (al-'aql). Biomedical topics are presented and ethical issues related to topics such as genetic testing, assisted reproduction and organ transplantation are discussed. Whereas these natural sources are God's special gifts to human beings, God's revelation as given to the prophets is the supernatural source of divine guidance through which human communities have been guided at all times through history. The second part of the book concentrates on the objectives of Islamic religious practice - the maqa' sid - which include: Preservation of Faith, Preservation of Life, Preservation of Mind (intellect and reason), Preservation of Progeny (al-nasl) and Preservation of Property. Lastly, the third part of the book discusses selected topical issues, including abortion, assisted reproduction devices, genetics, organ transplantation, brain death and end-of-life aspects. For each topic, the current medical evidence is followed by a detailed discussion of the ethical issues involved.

This is a study of madness in the medieval Islamic world. Using a wide variety of sources, from the fields of history, literature, and art, the late Michael Dols explores beliefs about madness in Islamic society, and examines attitudes towards individuals afflicted by mental illness or disability. The book demonstrates the links between Christian and Muslim medical beliefs and practices, and traces the influence of certain Christian beliefs, such as miracle-working, on Islamic practices. It breaks new ground in analysing the notions of the romantic fool, the wise fool, and the holy fool in medieval Islam within the framework of perceptions of mental illness. It shows that the madman was not regarded as a pariah, an outcast, or a scapegoat. This is a comprehensive and original work, whose insights into magic, medicine, and religion combine to open up our understanding of medieval Islamic society.

The Translation & The Meaning of Surah Al-Fatihah & Surah Al-Baqarah from The Holy Quran In English Language Color Version. Sūrat al-Fātiḥah (Arabic: ﷻ) is the first chapter (surah) of the Quran. Its seven verses (ayat) are a prayer for the guidance, lordship and mercy of God. This chapter has an essential role in Islamic prayer (salāt). The primary literal meaning of the expression "al-Fātiḥah" is "The Opener," which could refer to this Surah being "the opener of the Book" (Fātiḥat al-kitāb), to its being the first Surah recited in full in every prayer cycle (rak'ah), or to the manner in which it serves as an opening for many functions in everyday Islamic life. Some Muslims interpret it as a reference to an implied ability of the Surah to open a person to faith in God The name al-Fātiḥah ("the Opener") is due to the subject-matter of the surah. Fātiḥah is that which opens a subject or a book or any other thing. It is also called Umm Al-Kitab ("the Mother of the Book") and Umm Al-Quran ("the Mother of the Quran"); Sab'a al Mathani ("Seven repeated [verses]," an appellation taken from verse 15:87 of the Quran); Al-Hamd ("praise"), because a hadith narrates Prophet Muhammad SAW as having said: "The prayer [al-Fātiḥah] is divided into two halves between Me and My servants. When the servant says, 'All praise is due to God', the Lord of existence, God says, 'My servant has praised Me'."; Al-Shifa' ("the Cure"), because a hadith narrates Muhammad as having said: "The Opening of the Book is a cure for every poison.," Al-Ruqyah ("remedy" or "spiritual cure")., and al-Asas, "The Foundation," referring to its serving as a foundation for the entire Quran. Sūrah al-Baqarah or "The Cow" is the second and longest chapter (Surah) of the Qur'an. It consists of 286 verses, 6201 words and 25500 letters (Ibn Kathir). It is a Mediniite surah, that is to say that it was revealed at Medina after the Hijrah, with the exception of a few verses.
