An alpha werewolf chasing his dream meets an omega fighting for his life in a strictly temporary marriage of convenience... Alpha werewolf Beau Jeffries has been going it alone ever since he was cast out of his pack as a teenager for trying to help a human and endangering the pack's secrets during the tumultuous years when the wider world was learning the truth about werewolves. He hasn't lost his drive to help others, and he's about to begin a prestigious medical residency--only to learn that, as the first werewolf the program has knowingly accepted, he'll have to follow special rules, including the one that requires him to be married when he begins his residency. Omega werewolf Roland Lea is just trying to survive. After escaping the last and worst in a string of abusive relationships that left him scarred and unable to conceive, he's found safety in a refuge for homeless omegas. But despite the help he's getting at the refuge, he just keeps getting sicker instead of better, further and further from being able to make it on his own. When he's offered the opportunity to sign up with a mate-matching agency, he figures he has nothing to lose. No alpha is ever going to want an omega like him. When Beau sees Roland's profile, he knows at once what's making the omega sick, and he's determined to help. If he can persuade Roland to marry him, he can save Roland's life while Roland helps him get through his residency. But will their hasty partnership be enough to bring them both through what's ahead--and can temporary necessity lead to a forever love?

"Who's that?" questioned Jace, motioning to a newer model sedan parked at the school. Seth and the others watched the man grab the girl, causing her to cry out in pain. "Remember my warning," they heard him growl as he gripped her arm tightly. "Someone who needs to learn to keep his hands to himself," growled Seth as they approached the car. "Hey!" yelled Seth as they approached the car. "Is something wrong?" Seth led his group of wolves up to the car when he caught the scent of the girl before him. His wolf stirred within, causing his eyes to glow. She was his mate. His excitement immediately disappeared when he saw how tight the man's grip was on his mate's arm. "No, just talking with my niece." The man gripped her arm harder as he twisted, causing him to let out a feral growl as he continued to silently threaten his mate. "Isn't that right, Gabi?" he snickered. Seth watched the man tell her he'd pick her up for school before watching his mate scurry toward the school. Once she was safely within the school, he cleared his throat. "Sir...I'm going to assume your new here...but let me make myself clear, keep your hands to yourself," he growled. "Mind your own business, boy." The man glared at Seth and the others. "And keep away from my niece." "What an ass," Jace said as they watched the car peel out of the parking lot. "That chick is gonna have a bruise from his grip." Seth let out another feral growl at his comment, this one noticeably louder than the last. "Seth, what's your problem? You sound like a territorial chihuahua." "Him!" he growled. "He had his hands on my mate!"
