This document provides findings of a National Catholic Educational Association (NCEA) survey of Catholic elementary school finances for the school year 1992-93. The survey of 1,028 Catholic elementary schools (out of a total of 7,174) elicited returns from 619 schools, a 60 percent response rate. The sample represents almost 9 percent of all Catholic elementary schools in the United States. The survey gathered information on average administrator and personnel salaries, amount per student spent on instructional materials, the average tuition for various programs, tuition assistance, and average per-pupil cost. Findings indicate that the largest burden of educating the students was borne by children's parents through their tuition payments. The parish community provided additional support. The average tuition charged for the first child of a family in the parish was $1,152. Eighty-eight percent of the schools had a tuition scale for families with more than one child attending the school. Seventy-five percent of the schools had some form of tuition assistance. Ninety percent of the schools received a parish subsidy, and 37 percent had an endowment program. The average per-pupil cost was $2,044. Twenty-eight exhibits are included. Appendices contain a copy of the survey and followup letter and a list of responding schools. (LMI)

One of the biggest challenges for teachers today is finding the extra money needed to provide students with the very best education. "How to Get Money for Your Classroom & School" provides teachers with the solid know-how to meet that challenge head on! This book offers a complete course in raising funds for the classroom or school. Nationally respected authors Frances A. Karnes, Ph.D., and Kristen

R. Stephens, Ph.D., offer practical, hands-on ways to find the resources you need. The authors offer a step-by-step guide to grant writing; fun, success-proven fund-raising ideas; and a practical how-to for long-term fund development. Grant writing can often seem overwhelming to educators. The authors take teachers by the hand and show them how to find grant sources, write query letters, and prepare a winning grant application. Fund-raising needn't be a chore. Let the authors share successful ways to build both parent and student involvement in exciting and unique fund-raising projects. Fund development is critical for developing a stable source of funds for a school's goals. "How to Get Money" shows teachers how to develop a pool of money from which teachers can draw year after year. This is a must-read for any educator looking for ways to raise money for his or her classroom or school.
